PRINCE READY TO START, RECEPTION FEB. 25.

Prince Henry spent to-day with the Princess at Kiel, making preparations for his journey to America. He will leave Kiel at 8 o'clock tomorrow morning on a special train for Bremerhaven, where he will board the steamer Kronprinz Wilhelm and start at 4 o'clock P. M.

The date on which the royal visitor will be given the freedom of the city of New York has been changed to Feb. 25 at 4 o'clock P. M.

Capt. von Reuber-Taschitz, German naval attaché at Washington, reached Hoboken unexpectedly this afternoon. It was said that he cautioned Admiral von Bandisain not to accept official courtesies at a time forbidden by official etiquette.

Despite all rumors that no official visits were to be received on the Hohenzollern until after the Prince's arrival, Mayor Low left the meeting of the Board of Estimate and Apportionment late this afternoon and started at once for Hoboken to board the Kaiser's yacht. This was in response to a message by phone. His presence was necessary there at a conference at which the change of plans caused by the change of date on which the freedom of the city will be turned over to Prince Henry were discussed. The Mayor remained aboard the imperial yacht for some time, arranging new plans for the Prince's reception.

Admiral Barker, accompanied by his aide, Clifford West, arrived at the North German Lloyd pier at 1:30 o'clock on a tug and went on board the German yacht. Admiral Barker was welcomed warmly by the German commander, and after remaining on the yacht about twenty minutes he boarded the tug again and returned to the Brooklyn Navy Yard.

Just before he left the Hohenzollern to come to this city this afternoon Admiral von Bandisain received an unexpected visit from Capt. von Reuber-Taschitz, naval attaché to the German Embassy at Washington. The German went about the ship that day. Reuber-Taschitz carried instructions from the Kaiser to the effect that Admiral von Bandisain was to decline all official invitations until after Prince Henry reaches the country. It was also said that the Kaiser ordered the Admiral to remain quiet socially.

The Admiral will dine this evening with his brother-in-law, at No. 24 Lexington avenue. He will spend the evening making personal calls on Americans whose acquaintance he made either at the opening of the Kiel Canal or when he was cruising in Norwegian waters. Among these persons are the Howard Goulds, the Goetzels and several other equally prominent families.

GERMAN ADMIRAL VISITS HOBOKEN.

Mayor Lankering, of Hoboken, was trying on his looking glass in his cigar factory this morning preparatory to rolling a few hundred of his new Prince Heinrich cigarettes when a visitor from the royal yacht Hohenzollern was announced.

At the City Hall the Mayor, all the city and county officers and a goodly number of the prominent citizens were drawn up to receive the distinguished visitor. After Admiral von Bandisain had introduced himself, in English, he said that Hoboken made him feel at home. It reminded him of a bit of the Fatherland.

After Admiral von Bandisain had returned to the yacht he was visited by Gen. Brooke, who came to return the visit made to him at Governor's Island yesterday by the German Admiral. Gen. Brooke, who was accompanied by a member of his staff, arrived at the pier at 12:30 and went at once on board the yacht. He was welcomed by the Admiral and after a short stay returned to the tugboat and went back to Governor's Island.

Among the passengers who arrived today on the Graf Waldersee, from Hamburg, Boulogne and Plymouth, was Hofrath Waldman, who will have charge of all the entertainments on the imperial yacht Hohenzollern. He is accompanied by four cooks and stewards.

Vaccinating the Crew.

Dr. Samuel A. Heifer, who is the Hoboken Board of Health called upon Dr. Othmann, the surgeon of the Hohenzollern, this morning and suggested that the crew of the yacht be vaccinated.

He was informed that with the exception of about twenty-five men all on board the yacht had been vaccinated within five years. Virus and needles were left with Dr. Othmann by the Board of Health.

A gang of eighty painters was put to work on the yacht this morning. All were experts from Erie Basin and their orders were to make the vessel shine. It is estimated that from now until the Prince arrives about $500 a day will be spent in polishing the Hohenzollern.

SNEER AT PRINCE BY A CONGRESSMAN.

Special to The Evening World. WASHINGTON, Feb. 14.—Representative Wheeler of Kentucky, in the House today attacked Secretary Hay and President Roosevelt for sending a special envoy to the coronation of King Edward.

He also rebuked the American people for their interest in and adulation of "that little Dauchman," as he termed Prince Henry.

Referring to the report that a member of President's family was to attend the coronation, Wheeler said it was perhaps unbecomingly allude to it. Nevertheless, he said, he considered it "most unfortunate and unprecedented" and to be lamented by every liberty-loving American.

Mr. Wheeler then turned to the prospective visit of Prince Henry. With a gesture of contempt he declared that the "European maniacs were falling over each other to see the little Dutchman."

Later in the day Mr. Grosvenor rapped at some length to the speaker made by Mr. Wheeler for what he termed the latter's "inopportune speech." He said this speech would read at Kiel in the morning on the eve of Prince Henry's departure as the message of the American people.

Mr. Wheeler, at the conclusion of Mr. Grosvenor's remarks, made an impassioned response, protesting against the official reception of Prince Henry.

PRINCE BEGINS TRIP TO-MORROW.

KIEL, Feb. 14.—Prince Henry has been assured by the officials of the Kronprinz Wilhelm that he will be landed in New York by noon on Feb. 22. He will leave Kiel by special train tomorrow morning and lunch at the Bremer railway station. Then he will go by train to Bremerhaven, where he will embark at 4 o'clock. The Prince is happy as a boy over his prospective trip. He is spending his leisure time reading Roosevelt's "American Ideals."

PRINCE COASTS WITH CHILDREN.

KIEL, Holstein, Prussia, Feb. 14.—Admiral Prince Henry of Prussia dropped his books on America and turned with his children most of the day. He and the Princess and their children went out coasting again. Prince Henry went down on his stomach, backward and standing up. Once, while darning down the hill, standing, the sled struck a bump, badly grated, and the Prince pitched into the snow, which caused his boys to scream with delight.

The Princess also made a decent standing. She looked quite girlish as she balanced gracefully on the swiftly moving sled.

Prince Henry went to the Kiel Yacht Club yesterday evening. It is a regular thing for him to spend Thursday evenings there. It is understood that the young fellows stayed away from the club that evening. About twenty of the players were present, mostly naval officers, among them being Admiral Albrecht, Chief of the fleet, and other naval officers. The Prince proposed "The United States" and the toast was drunk to a chorus of "Hoche!"

CRUISERS SAIL TO JOIN EVANS'S FLEET.

(Special to The Evening World.) NORFOLK, Va., Feb. 14.—The United States cruisers Cincinnati and San Francisco sailed from Hampton Roads for New York to-day to participate in the naval reception to Prince Henry.

GERMAN AMENDE SENT TO DEWEY?

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 14.—Admiral Dewey, it is understood here, has received a personal letter from Prince Henry that is in a way an amende from Germany to the Admiral. The letter was sent from Berlin and forwarded to the Admiral at Palm Beach, Fla.

It is said that Admiral Dewey received it with the liveliest feelings of gratification, as he regards it as addressed to the American people rather than to himself. The Admiral will, it is said, have a personal representative at New York to convey his regards to the Prince.

As the state of Mrs. Dewey's health makes it impossible for him to leave her, it is expected here that Admiral Dewey will present a copy of the Prince's letter to the Navy Department and make the letter public.

SPLENDID PALACE CAR FOR THE PRINCE.

WILMINGTON, Del., Feb. 14.—The Wilmington shop of the Pullman Palace Car Company has to-day completed work on the handsome car idler, which will be used by Prince Henry of Prussia and his suite during their tour of the country.

The idler is a combination observation and stateroom sleeper and is one of the most elaborate ever fitted out in the Wilmington shop.

The interior decorations are of bronze and mahogany, and all the rooms are lighted by electricity. The upholstery is of blue plush and brown tapestry and the curtains are of brown silk. Electric fans will cool the air in the different compartments.

Are You Run Down

Feel all worn out, brain won't work, have no appetite, no ambition, strength or courage—you need Vinol—you guarantee it will help you. Your money back if it don't.

How Vinol made W. F. Searle stronger.

"Your Vinol is certainly a wonderful preparation, one bottle having worked wonders with me. My appetite was gone, nothing tasted good. I decided to try Vinol, and on the second day after beginning to take it I began to relish food again. I have eaten heartily at each meal since, and not only feel stronger, but have made a substantial gain in weight."—W. F. SEARLE, 12 Pierpont Street, Peabody, Mass.

Mrs. S. C. Berry says Vinol is a Great Remedy.

"I was taken with the Grippe one year ago last March, but the cough never left me. I was all run down and did not care for anything to live. Had two hemorrhages and others slight, but having read what Vinol had done for others I also tried it. I was surprised to notice a change so soon, but it is true. I have taken nearly four bottles and shall get more to take for a while longer. I am not the same person that I was when I began taking Vinol. It surely is a great remedy. It has done so much for me, both for throat and lung trouble, that I wish every one with such trouble would give it a fair trial."—Mrs. S. C. BERRY, High Street, Farm Hill, Middletown, Conn.

Come in and let us tell you about people right here in town who have been restored to health by Vinol. We don't hesitate to guarantee Vinol because we know what it will do.

LIBERTY'S LIGHT TO BE ONLY NOMINALLY DIMMED.

War Department Will See to It that the Flame Still Glows.

Liberty's torch will continue to burn next month despite a notice of the Lighthouse Board that the light in the tower will be discontinued on or about March 1.

The status of Liberty Enlightening the World will cease to be an official light in New York Harbor, but the War Department will provide for the lighting of the torch.

There are three authorities on Liberty Island now: the War Department, which maintains a recruiting station there; the Light-House Board, which maintains the light as a beacon; and the Liberty Statue Committee of Citizens.

QUEER BEQUESTS MADE IN HER WILL.

CAROLINE S. RATHBONE LEFT CURIOUS DOCUMENT.

Twenty-seven Relatives Are to Receive from $25 to $1,115 Each.

The will of Caroline S. Rathbone, filed this afternoon by Henry Tompkins, of No. 154 Fifth avenue, is a curious document. A fortune of $114,000 is given away with the most scrupulous detail as to the succession to each bequest in the event of the death of the legatee before the maker of the will.

The petition accompanying the will gives the names and addresses of sixty-seven cousins, the "only next of kin and heirs-at-law," and they are scattered all over America.

Twenty-seven of them are remembered in the will in legacies in odd numbers from $25 to $1,115 each.

The will was executed Dec. 14, 1894, with Charles H. Hayne, of No. 25 West Twenty-sixth street; Willett M. Haught, of No. 41 West Twenty-sixth, and Henry Tompkins, of No. 155 East Thirty-third street, as witnesses.

The chief beneficiary under the will is the Rathbone Memorial Home for Aged and Infirm Persons, at Evansville, Indiana, not yet established. By bequest and as residuary legatee this institution will start with about $70,000. Malcolm T. Mann, of Brooklyn, and James J. Orr, of Evansville, will be trustees of this fund.

The will concludes with this provision: "My books and pictures except a certain portrait of my dear brother, all my clothing, jewelry, bric-a-brac, including, also, a complete list of which is now contained in a certain box, the same being in a tin box now on deposit in the State Safe Deposit vault situated at the corner of William street and Exchange place, to my cousin, Leslie Matthews, of Tugaco county, Pennsylvania, and my friend Elizabeth J. Hamilton, of New York City, with the request that the directions in said book be followed in complying with said request."

Mr. Tompkins estimates this trust at $100,000 and a bequest of $500 to Rev.

TEN YEARS IN JAIL NO LESSON TO HIM.

IF POLICE SUSPECT RIGHTLY PALMER IS AT IT AGAIN.

He is Arrested on Supposition that He Resumed His Trade of Safe-Cracking.

Detectives Strang, and Wines, of Capt. Titus's staff, arrested on West One Hundred and Twenty-fifth street this morning Herman Palmer, forty-seven years old, on suspicion of being the burglar who attempted to crack a safe in Moquin's restaurant yesterday morning.

The burglar was at work when an employee in the restaurant interrupted him. From descriptions furnished the detectives arrested Palmer.

Capt. Titus says Palmer has been out of Sing Sing only a year after serving ten years for cracking a safe. He is a brother of the notorious "Dutch" Palmer, who was recently sentenced for burglary to nine years in an Ottawa prison.

Palmer will be arraigned in Jefferson Market Court.

MAKES ESTATES LIABLE.

Heirs May Have to Pay for Injuries to Deceased Ancestor.

(Special to The Evening World.) ALBANY, Feb. 14.—The sons of the property owner are visited on his heirs for an indefinite number of generations, it is held by the Supreme Court in a decision handed down yesterday.

The Daily Advertiser reports that the estate of a man who died in 1880, leaving a large estate, was liable for the injuries to a deceased ancestor.

PATRICK'S LAWYER QUESTIONS EXPERT

MOORE PUTS HANDWRITING MAN ON THE RACK.

Trying to Shake His Assertions that the Rice Checks Are Forgeries.

Albert S. Osborne, first handwriting expert to be called by the prosecution in the trial of Albert F. Patrick for the murder of William M. Rice, resumed the stand today, and his cross-examination was continued by Mr. Moore, counsel for the defense. Yesterday Mr. Moore asked a number of questions in his questioning when court adjourned.

Taking up the signature of the will of 1891 Mr. Moore got the witness to admit that there were interrupted movements in some of the letters.

"That, indistinctly, doesn't it?" he asked, sarcastically.

"It would with certain other indications," replied the witness.

"It would if it were in the 1900 will, wouldn't it?" asked Mr. Moore.

Then there came a row over what interrupted movement was. Mr. Moore objected to an answer. He said it wasn't defined yesterday and he wanted the witness to use it in the same way as he was asked to use it.

The witness said he had not defined it exactly what was meant by "interrupted movement" and the witness said there were varying degrees of interrupted movement, some degrees of which were significant and some of which were not.

"You would consider these interrupted movements in the 1900 will, wouldn't you?" asked Mr. Moore.

"Oh, no, this signature is one of perfect handwriting," he said.

"But it is full of interrupted movements, isn't it?" asked Mr. Moore.

"Yes, there is not enough lateral shading in the signature," he said.

Having got the witness to admit that the interrupted movements of the signature were not defined yesterday, Mr. Moore asked the witness to define them.

The witness said he had not defined them exactly what was meant by "interrupted movement" and the witness said there were varying degrees of interrupted movement, some degrees of which were significant and some of which were not.

NECKTIE A STRONG CLUE TO MRS. VOEPEL'S SLAYER.

heard any disturbance this morning in Mrs. Voepel's rooms.

John Bryant, employed in a butcher shop on the ground floor of the building in which the crime was committed, was taken to the station-house and questioned, but allowed to go after an hour. He proved an alibi that was satisfactory to the police.

Suspicion attached to Bryant because he quarreled with the woman last night upon her refusal to go to a ball with him.

Another person for whom the police are looking is a canvasser for photographs, who went through the building between 9 and 10 o'clock this morning.

No trace of him has been found, and he was not seen to leave the building.

The murderer is supposed to have gone out over the roof and to the street through an adjoining house.

Name on a Necktie.

An important clue is a black four-hand necktie which was found clasp in the right hand of the dead woman. It is of the made-up variety, slightly worn. Undoubtedly Mrs. Voepel tore it from the neck of the man who killed her.

There is a name on the necktie and the police believe it is the name of the murderer.

Capt. Martens said this afternoon that he would have the man before him.

John Voepel entered the Charles street police station at 10 o'clock, greatly excited. He told Strang, Burns, that his mother was dead, and asked that a policeman be sent to the house.

Then he started to run away, but Central Office Detectives Fay and Bracken, who were in the station-house, detained him and took him along when they went to investigate.

Evidence of a Struggle.

The woman was found in a blood-spattered room. The chairs and tables were overturned, and there were other evidences of a fierce struggle. A diamond-encrusted finger ring which was worn by the woman was found in the room.

No knife was found on the premises in the first search made by the detectives and the neighbors said that they had heard no sound of a struggle.

The boy was taken back to the station-house and questioned. Central Office Detectives Price and McCafferty took him in hand. He said that he and his mother kept the newsstand at Hudson and Christopher streets, one of them being on duty there throughout the day.

His mother, he said, called him at 4 o'clock this morning, and he went to the stand with the understanding that she was to relieve him at 4 o'clock while he went home to breakfast.

She did not appear at 4 o'clock, and he waited for her until 10, when he closed the stand and went home.

Non Denies Quarrel.

He found his mother, he said, lying in the position she was in when the detectives arrived. So far as he knew she had no enemies and never received visitors at the house. He said he had had no quarrel with her.

But he could not account for a blood stain on his knee, nor could he tell how blood had come to be oiled under all of his finger nails. It was deemed best to hold him and question him further, and he was spirited away to the detective house.

District Attorney Jerome was notified of the crime, and immediately sent Assistant District Attorney Lord and County Detectives Hammond and Bradford to the scene.

They joined with the Central Office men and Capt. Martens in working on the case and it will be in hand before word of it reached the Coroner's Office.

The house in which the crime occurred is an old-fashioned three-story Ninth Ward dwelling. It is occupied by three families. The woman is given a good reputation by the neighbors.

She is said to have accumulated a considerable fortune by close attention to her newsstand, which is in a very good location.

Although Mrs. Voepel was over forty years of age, she was a voluptuous, handsome woman, fond of jewelry and good clothes and proud of her complexion. It was her boast that she had often been taken for a woman of thirty-three.

Her husband, who was a butcher, died seven years ago. For four years she had been living in the house at No. 109 Christopher street. She was born in Leroy street and was said to know about everybody in the Ninth Ward. Her maiden name was Bauer and she had many relatives living on the lower west side of the city.

The housekeeper at No. 125 Christopher street, Mrs. Nichols, told the detectives that Mrs. Voepel was very popular and had many visitors. She knew many policemen of the Charles street precinct, and they frequently visited her at her home. These visits did not imply, Mrs. Nichols said, that Mrs. Voepel was anything but a good woman. She was of a friendly nature and it was a pleasure to be in her company.

Chief of Police Murphy, of Jersey City, today received a letter from Chief of Police Richard, of Newport, R. I., detailing the early careers of Thomas F. and Louis Croughan, two of the "polite burglars" who were born in Newport, Rhode Island, of good breeding.

Chief Richard wrote that in 1888 he arrested Louis Croughan, the youngest of the brothers, who was then only twelve years old, for the theft of opera-house tickets. The tickets were recovered and, in consideration of his youth, he was not sent to prison.

Thomas Croughan, Chief Richard said, had served a sentence of six months in the county jail for stealing several sets of harness from a store of John H. Vetterli of Newport. The stolen harness was found hidden under the floor of the blacksmith shop.

Chief Richard said that the father is a hardworking and respectable man and is greatly distressed over the waywardness of his sons.
